Reeves Regional Health Begins Serving Patients from New Hospital Campus Beginning Nov. 13

Years in the making, the new 140,000-square-foot facility marks a new era of healthcare for the region.

PECOS, Texas (Nov. 7, 2022) – Reeves County will soon have access to one of the newest hospital facilities in the country. Reeves Regional Health announces that their new 140,000-square-foot hospital campus will officially open for business at 6:30 a.m. on Nov. 13.

“It’s finally here,” says Brenda McKinney, CEO of Reeves Regional Health. “After years of planning and construction, our community will finally have access to a modern healthcare campus that they deserve.”

Formally called Reeves County Hospital District (RCHD), new branding was formally announced on Nov. 2, to better reflect the breadth of services the local healthcare provider now offers.

The new hospital campus will boast more than 140,000 square feet of space to house general facilities, expanded space for core services including a larger emergency department, two large surgical suites, a women’s center, and upgraded technology. The new campus will also be in better compliance with requirements for disabled patients and visitors.

The first hospital in Pecos was founded in the early 1900s, which practiced out of Dr. Jim Camp’s home for several years before moving to the old jail. In 1929, the first official hospital was constructed. A county hospital opened in 1954. Reeves Regional Hospital District’s current facility was constructed in 1978 at 2323 Texas Street.

Since then, the hospital has undergone several expansions and renovations, but in recent years the facility has been showing signs of age, especially as the hospital district has identified the need for more spaces to offer expanded medical services to better serve the community.

Reeves Regional Health consists of the hospital, the Reeves Regional Rural Health Clinic (formerly Pecos Valley Rural Health Clinic), Reeves Regional Home Health and Hospice (formally American Home Health & Hospice), and all the service lines and departments within these facilities.

“We are really excited about being able to offer care to our patients at the new facility beginning Nov 13, 2022”, McKinney said. “We are so grateful for all of the community support we have received over the years and the feedback we that we received at the Nov 2nd Open House event was very meaningful to all of us as we prepare for a new era in healthcare for our region.”
